“We are searching for the next generation of KPMG auditors. They will be forward-thinking individuals who are inspired by the opportunity to promote audit quality through innovation and who are interested in the transformative power of advanced technologies.”

Shaun Budnik

National Audit Innovation Leader, KPMG LLP

A meaningful career in an essential profession

More than ever before, auditors perform work critical to the global economy and to companies and communities worldwide. Consider how:

- Big data and new advanced technologies are disrupting industries
- Increased regulations and higher reporting standards require effective financial oversight
- Capital markets need high-quality audits to invest confidently and function properly
- Real-time insights and deep analytics are necessary to compete in fast-moving markets and to manage complex enterprises
- Boards and business executives need reliable information and insight to make critical informed decisions.

If you are inspired by such important work, KPMG's Audit practice may be the place for you. We are growing and seeking talented candidates who want to define the next generation of audit.

Talented professionals, like you are critical to our success

Combining knowledge and skills with leading-edge tools and technologies strengthens our ability to deliver a robust and relevant quality audit. We invest significant time, energy, and funds into developing our Audit professionals. To keep pace with the evolving operating environments, we provided blended learning curriculums that bring together technology-based training options with immersive in-person classroom experiences.

- We are building a dedicated learning, development, and innovation facility in Lake Nona, Florida to provide continuous growth
- We have over 15,000 mentoring relationships across the firm; our partners and professionals are committed to fostering your growth and developing your leadership skills
- KPMG is #7 on Consulting magazine's Best Firms to Work for list.
- KPMG is recognized by FORTUNE magazine as one of the 100 Best Companies to Work For
- KPMG is recognized as part of Training magazine's Top 10 Hall of Fame, an honor reserved for the handful of high-performing learning organizations.

Careers, not just jobs

KPMG's Audit practice is a strong and vibrant business, giving you access to market-leading assignments at top global companies. There is a place for your skills, ideas, and interests here, along with opportunity to grow at your own pace. That means promotion when you are ready, not according to tenure or predetermined time lines. And perhaps that is why we are known for having high employee satisfaction rates and record low turnover.

KPMG's Audit practice is about opportunities to create the career you want.

What you can expect:

- Access to advanced audit technology, including advances in data and analytics, artificial intelligence, and cognitive technologies, accelerating the pace of innovation in audit
- The opportunity to explore application of new audit tools and technologies such as robotic process automation, blockchain, drones, and natural language processing technology
- An opportunity to work with data sets
- 200 hours of training in first two years of employment with collaborative training and mentoring
- Attractive financial compensation and benefits
- A chance to work with interesting clients (both public companies and private enterprises) and some of the world's best-known companies
- An opportunity to join a firm that has enhanced its market-leading position in key areas such as innovation, client analytics, and alternative investments

Community impact

When you are part of the KPMG Audit practice, you are here for a purpose, a big purpose that flows from our shared values to the world, improving the communities where we live and work. That impact is reflected in the nearly 200,000 service hours donated through our Volunteer Time Release program and the $16 million pledged through our annual Community Giving Campaign.

Engagement and mentoring

Mentoring programs enable regular, private communication with partners and managers so you can ask important questions, examine your goals, and stretch your thinking about your career. There are over 13,000 mentoring relationships in the firm.
